DICK TURPIN, UP TO DATE, SHOWS OKLAHOMAN'S TRICK

Thief Picks the Pocket of a Spectator at Balloon Ascension and as Air Craft Leaves the Ground, Leaps into the Basket.

Sayre, Okla., July 1.—A pickpocket, closely pursued by the town marshal, leaped into the basket of a balloon near here today as the air craft was leaving the ground and sailed away to safety.

The balloon had been filled with gas and the aeronaut was ready to start when the marshal saw a pickpocket take a purse out of the pocket of one of the spectators.

The marshal attempted to catch the thief, who leaped into the basket of the balloon just as it cleared the earth.

At a height of several hundred feet the thief drew a revolver and ordered the aeronaut to make a slow descent, and as the balloon approached the ground he jumped out and made his escape, several miles from where the robbery had occurred.

BROTHER MCGEE'S CEREMONY

"In the Garden of Eden, man's first dwelling place, The first wedding occurred—God's best gift to our race. And His word has gone forth that man can't live alone, He must have a fair helpmate, one truly his own."

"Now, therefore, I would ask you, does any one know Why this man—who's none else than the hod-wielding Joe— Should not wed this young lady, the fair Imogene, Who's so useful and apt on the writing machine?"

"I do not object," said the Bald-headed Man, "For altho' it at first somewhat altered my plan, Yet in truth I must say that the Hard-Pounding Green Gives a very good punch to a writing machine."

"I do not object," said the Man-At-The-Top, "Altho' now for two days has our work had to stop. We can make business hum tho' tomorrow, if Turk Will then shoulder his hod and go on with his work."

"I do not object," said the Hard-Pounding Green, "Altho' I, too, once tho't that I loved Imogene; But, to tell you the truth, 'twas a concocted plan Gotten up betwixt me and the Bald-Headed Man!"

"Ah, that's good of you, brethren," said Brother McGee. "Could there be better men than these gentlemen three?—The Hard-Pounding Green and the Bald-Headed Man, And the Man-At-The-Top—beat that trio who can!"

"And now, Joseph Turk, you who once hopp'd the clods, But who now is engaged in the wielding of hods, Do you take this young lady to be your dear wife? Will you cherish and love her the rest of your life?"

"Very good; and do you, the fair Imogene Moss, You who left your machine and your bald headed boss, Do you take this young man for your husband thro' life? Will you stick to him too, 'mid commotion and strife?"

"Ah, again very good; now let each bow his head—, And you brethren, too—while these last words are said; They will be but a few, for I've finished my work: You are husband and wife—Joe and Imogene Turk!"

"In conclusion, I'll say just a word to you, Turk. Be faithful and true, and go on with your work: Your dear wife and the pitfalls of life stand between. As you stood betwixt her and the writing machine!"

"And in turn I'll just say to you, Imogene Turk, Deal gently with Joe and your duty ne'er shirk: Just cast off all besetments of life, Imogene, As you did, in good shape too, the Hard-Pounding Green!"

"I wish you much joy," said the Bald-Headed Man: "May you be of one mind and have only one plan; May life's path be as bright and as smooth, be it said, As obstructionless, too, as the top of my head!"

"I wish you much joy," said the Man-At-The-Top: "May your sorrows be naught and your joys never stop; May your lives be cemented by love till you'll stick. Each one to the other, like mortar and brick!"

"I wish you much joy," said the Hard-Pounding Green: "May your lives run as smooth as a writing machine; May you cling to each other up life's rugged hill, Like the Bald-Headed Man to a five-dollar bill!"

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO TEACHERS, PATRONS AND PUPILS

Schools all Open Same Day, August 7th.

Those who are interested in the schools of the county I wish to say that at a meeting of the trustees from all over the county, together with the board of education, it was agreed and voted unanimously, that all of the schools of the county should begin on the same day and that day was fixed for the first Monday in August, which is the 7th day. The reason for this uniformity can readily be seen. The state has adopted a regularly arranged course of study to be used throughout the state. This course of study is gotten up and recommended by Supt. Coats, our rural school supervisor for the state. Our institute will convene on Monday, July 31st, and continue during the first week in August allowing the teachers to go right out of the institute into their schools with all their new methods and ideas fresh in their minds. We will spend a whole day or as much time as is necessary discussing the course of study and the daily program that all may become familiar with the work. This will prepare the teacher for work in unison. Uniformity gives force and strength to all business undertakings and is not the education and development of our children the most important business of our lives?

If you will think for one minute you will see where the early school will pay when we have Marion's Second United States Senator.

We take off our hats to U. S. Senator James. Altho not yet elected his nomination means as much, and Marion without regard to sect or creed & Crittenden county regardless of political affiliation will do honor to our most distinguished citizen.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS FELT IN CALIFORNIA

Rapid Exodus From Restaurants, Shops and Large Buildings.

San Francisco, July 1.—Two earthquake shocks, the heaviest since the big earthquake of 1906, separated by a few seconds, jarred the central portion of California and Western Nevada today. Only trivial damage has been reported from any section, but a panic seized upon the crowds in stores and restaurants and a pell-mell exodus from large buildings followed.

only a six months' school year. Three-fourths of the school enrollment in the rural schools is of children whose ages are from six to thirteen, just the right age to be taught easily and correctly and not old enough to be of much service in the work of the home. They can attend school easily and comfortably while the weather is warm but when the weather gets bad and the roads get muddy these children can not attend at all especially during the latter part of January and February. I am talking from experience and observation. I taught in the rural schools for seventeen years and had my schools to begin anywhere from July 1st to November 1st. The early schools were always better attended, and, too, the teachers' annual reports will show these facts. I will be glad to show them to any one wishing to have this proven if they will come into my office. Of course, we have sympathy for the "big boys" that have to work in the tobacco patch, but the only way to remedy this is to send him to school before he is large enough to go to the tobacco patch, besides the "big boy" does not constitute a majority of our school children and it is the greater number that we are trying to benefit.

The reasons for having the schools to begin all on the same day are many. We have an adopted course and a daily program, then while the seventh grade at Shady Grove is reciting arithmetic the seventh grade at Tolu is, also, reciting arithmetic and so on all over the county. If a family moves from Dist. No. 10 in Div. No. 2, to Dist. No. 3 in Div. No. 4 the children will know where their lessons will be when they start to their new districts. When the superintendent wishes to supervise the reading lessons in a certain district he knows just when to go to that school.

The schools of our much-boasted-of and dearly beloved Kentucky are far behind those of her sister states, but there is much being done for the improvement of our schools, especially the rural schools. Let's do our part: Help and not hinder. Our most vital interests, we know, are our children. Let's live and work for them.

If you will attend the institute some time during the first week in August you will see how much interest the teachers and other school people of the county are manifesting in the welfare of our children.

If you will look in these columns next week you may see some more school talk if our good editor cares to publish it.

Yours very truly,
E. JEFFREY TRAVIS,
Superintendent.

FIERCE BATTLE.

Mrs. Smith Aids in Killing Monster Rattle Snake.

Eddyville Ky., June 30.—During a visit to her niece, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Degaffenreid the past few weeks Mrs. Georgia Smith, one of the best known and most highly respected old ladies of Eddyville, had quite an experience in a battle in the Degaffenreid home with a large rattlesnake. Some member of the family first found a garter snake and when Mr. Degaffenreid was called in to kill it, he discovered a large rattler under the bed. He reached after him with the garden rake and after pulling him out, pressed down on his snakeship while the women of the household, by turns pounded his head to a frazzle. Ten rattles and a button were cut from his tail, and in size was nearly as large as they grow. Mrs. Smith is very proud of her battle with the snake.

SOUTHERN EAGLE EYE SALVE Good for Nothing but the Eyes

The Wet Firecracker

A Story of the Fourth

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

ELI GROMLET was a young man of seemingly appearance and commendable habits. Industrious, saving—without being stingy—pleasant in his speech and actions, he was entirely at his ease save when with young ladies. And even when with them his backwardness was more pronounced when the young lady was one for whom he entertained a high regard.

"You can always tell how much Eli Gromlet thinks of you by how hard he tries to get away from you," was an axiom among the girls. "If he doesn't like you at all he can talk to you by the hour."

Which was a near-truth. Eli could and did talk freely and fluently with the young women who were simply friends or acquaintances, but whenever the tender passion was awakened in his bosom he yearned to be near the object of his affection, yet could not carry on a conversation to save his life.

Some women like that in a man. They like to see him made dumb by their beauty and charm. It certainly must be gratifying to a young woman to know that a fluttering ringlet or a tempting dimple can drive speech from the tongue of one of the lords of creation and render him oratorically as hopeless as a wooden Indian cigar sign. Nevertheless, even the vainest woman tires of silent adulation after a time. If women are pretty they are willing to be told so by silence and by glances in which hopelessness and adoration mingle, but a little silence of that sort goes a long way. They feel that eyes and cheeks and hands are made pretty that they may not only be noticed, but commented upon in a pleasing manner.

However, there is one more exasperating trait in a backward man. That is when the young woman knows he wants to propose but is too bashful to even stammer out half the question and allow her, with her quick feminine intuition, to guess the rest of it.

Inez Truloe was beloved by Eli Gromlet, and had been so beloved for over a year. That is plenty long enough for a young woman to wait for a proposal.

If this were a regular love story we should have begun with the beginning. We should have plodded dutifully through the past year, should have told of Eli's start of surprise, of the flush that mantled his honest cheek and the thrill that trembled in his heart when one day he gazed into Inez's eyes and read there his fate. But, really, those are personal matters. This being a true story, we do not feel justified in wrenching from their hiding place the innermost thoughts and feelings of Eli Gromlet and spreading them here for all the world to inspect and compare. Also, if this were a regular love story, we would roll up our sleeves, push our hair back from our forehead, take a firm grip on our cigar, and describe a beautiful creature whose radiant charms would make kings toss their crowns to the floor, kick the throne aside and abdicate in order to clerk in her father's grocery. None of that, however. Inez was good looking, but she knew as well as we do that she was no Lillias Russell or Lily Langtry. She tanned quickly and freckled easily, and in cold weather her nose got red. But she had a good disposition, considerable common sense, could fry chicken and make the best egg biscuit you ever bit into. Also and furthermore, she would one day own her share of 600 acres of rich farm land. Not that these matters influenced Eli in loving her. He would have loved her just as much if she had been Lily Langtry and had all the wealth of Hetty Green. Probably more.

On the Fourth of July Eli took Inez to the picnic and rally in the grove. They heard the Declaration of Independence read and listened to the singing of patriotic songs by the quartette, the tenor of which had the sliding Adam's apple in such cases made and provided. They also heard the congressman deliver an address on "True Patriotism," in which he devoted most of his time to explaining his vote on the tariff bill. Then came the picnic supper and the fireworks.

While Inez and Eli strolled about the grounds watching the fireworks,

"Why is that wet firecracker like you?"

Inez picked up a firecracker. It was lying near the barrel of lemonade and was water-soaked because of the carelessness of Lem Higgins, who had been dipping the beverage out for all comers. Eli was puffing away contentedly at a cigar which had been given him by the congressman.

"Oh, Eli," Inez said, "light this firecracker with your cigar."

Eli took the firecracker and applied his cigar to the end, of course without result, although Inez kept up a pretty display of alarm.

"It's wet," Eli said, diffidently. He was about to throw it away when Inez asked him for it.

"Let me keep it," she said. "It reminds me of something."

So she wrapped it in her handkerchief, and later on they strolled homeward. Eli maintained a heavy silence all the way, although the night, was one that would have made a confirmed womanhater propose to a millinery store dummy.

At the door of Inez's home Eli found speech.

"What did that firecracker make you think of, Inez?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm going to make you guess," she smiled. "It's a sort of a conundrum."

"Conundrum?"

"Yes. Now, you must guess it. Why is that wet firecracker like you?"

"I don't see anything to that. Why is it?"

"I won't tell you. I said I would make you guess. Here. Take the firecracker with you and think it out if you can."

Wonderingly, Eli took the firecracker home with him. Half the remainder of the night he turned that firecracker over in his mind. All the next day he puzzled over the conundrum. The next

"I dried it out," he said. "Then it popped."

eventually he solved the problem from all angles. It took him a whole week to solve it.

One evening he called on Inez, and solemnly said in a low and confidential tone the fragments of the firecracker.

"I dried it out," he said. "Then it popped."

"Oh, Eli, I didn't mean that at all!" But he went right on and popped—and never from that day to this has either of them thought about that conundrum again, so no doubt we never shall know just what was the resemblance Inez saw between Eli and the wet firecracker.

The Crittenden County Sunday School Convention to be Held at Repton July 11, 1911.

As the Repton people have invited us to have our convention at their church we feel that we want to make it a day to be well enjoyed by all. The place will be well prepared for the work.

The county for preparation will have plenty of water, seats and ice.

Our program will be struck later.

And if there are any who think that the Repton people will be expected to furnish dinner for the county we wish to dispell that idea now, for we are not going to let them do this. But let everybody bring well-filled baskets and have a good time together.

Let all district secretaries be present or send a delegate.

All choirs will be given a place on the program.

Aunt Polk Langsdon is not any better.

Charles Gregory and Ira Mitchell, of Dycusburg, were in this section Thursday.

John Adams Dycusburg, has moved into the Dave Brooks house and has put in a brand new stock of goods which he will sell at little above cost. With two stores in our community, we should do well in the buying of goods. All we need now to complete our little town, is a blacksmith's shop, plenty of good water, good pine timber for whittling purposes and two good news vendors.

Dan Riley has just received a large bill of cow peas from Paducah which he will sow in his corn before the last plowing. He says that his hogs will fatten on the peas and not eat the corn.

Sunday School every Sunday morning. Come and bring some one with you.

Christ said:—"feed my sheep," but most of our preachers are after food for themselves.

We should vote for clean good men, men whom we know are wise men, and boys do not curse in public places as they used to do. The world is growing better.

Mrs. Ellen Williams, of Lyon county, visited the family of Tom Stone Friday.

We heard a preacher say the other day that he visited and spent the night with one of the members of his church, who lived in an old log cabin with dirt and stick chimney. He found the man and wife to be christians, but they needed encouragement. We could not keep from saying, "God bless you my Bro, we need more work done of this kind." Our Savior visited the poor. Preachers, look after the poor of your churches. They need your help.

Mr. Editor if those two boys of whom you spoke, can get out an issue of the Record-Press a half a day head of time and can make it as neat and interesting as the issue last week, you just let the boys run it, for they surely know how to do the work. Let us congratulate you boys, for the splendid work you did.

"No. Happened before dark. During the speaking exercises the chairman announced unexpectedly that Mr. Longfellow Tennyson Scruggs was about to read an original poem composed especially for the occasion."

An Anatomical Mistake.

"Pardon me," said Mrs. Justgottit, to her callers. "It is growing so dark I believe I will ring for the livers."

"For the what?" exclaimed the callers.

"Now, just listen to me! Of course, I meant ring for the lights. A body does get so twisted sometimes, doesn't she?"

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; this has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

Late Poem.

Little drops of water poured into the milk pail gave the milkman's daughter lovely gowns of silk.

Little grains of sugar mixed with grocer's sand makes the grocer's assets swell to beat the band. Little bowls of custard, humble though they seem, help enrich the fellow selling poor ice-cream. Little rocks and boulders, little chunks of slate, make the coal man's fortune something to ponder at. Lots of ads, well written, printed nice and neat, give the thrifty merchant homes on every street. —Hardin Era.

TOBACCO FINDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

COST OF PRODUCTION EXCEEDS PRICE BY NEARLY ONE CENT

At the instance of the association, the men who here in the city of Henderson graded the 1910 Association tobacco undertook the preparation of a detailed statement purposing to show the cost of producing tobacco. These graders are practical specialists, middle-aged, sober, conservative and discreet. They meet from time to time for purpose of conference and discussion, and where a doubt or difference arose the opinion and advice of experienced men tobacco was sought and considered.

For convenience the committee of graders elected to figure the cost of producing three acres of tobacco.

Here to follow is a list of graders who prepared the estimate: Owen McDonald, T. J. Melton, Powell Griffin, D. A. Howard, A. C. Crawford, Lloyd Green, E. W. Jones, A. S. Johnson.

These gentlemen are widely known and, it will be universally conceded here in Henderson Co., are peculiarly fitted to compute the cost of producing tobacco, and their estimates will go unchallenged by disinterested fair-minded men.

As will appear, and will come in the nature of a revelation to a majority of tobacco growers, albeit known to a select few up-to-date growers for years. It, I say, will be made plain to all that:

The cost per hundred for production tobacco in the stemming district is 8 and one third cents.

Mammoth Cave Closed Two Days

For a day or two last week the Mammoth Cave, was closed on account of a strike of all the guides employed by the management. Matters were speedily adjusted, however, and within 48 hours the faithful guides were at their posts and ready for duty. Kentucky's great natural wonder. This is said to have been the first time that the cave has been closed to the public since 1808, a period of 103 years. Thirty years ago this wonderful exhibition of the handiwork of nature was better advertised than it is today, though it still surpasses in beauty, size and grandeur all the caves that have yet been explored. Some day, after the death of the last of the 14 nephews and nieces of Dr. John Croghan, who bequeathed the property to them at his death, many years ago, the property will be sold and the proceeds therefrom divided among the heirs of the eleven. A few years ago there were but three of the eleven beneficiaries of Dr. Croghan's bequest alive. Should the cave fall into the hands of a modern American citizen with sufficient capital to advertise it and restore it to its pristine glory as one of the eight wonders of the world, it would easily become an all-the-year resort, with golf links, fishing, boating and hunting, the year round. It is a lamentable fact that today a large percentage of the people who visit the cave are Europeans who visit America and have the "Mammoth Cave of Kentucky" marked on their itinerary before they leave their homes. But the main fault lies with the failure of the owners and managers to spend a single dollar in the form of advertising during the past quarter of a century. Had the great fall of Niagara been obscured from the view of the world for 43 hours, or had been held up by a strike, the fact would have been known in every city of any size in the world, and even in the smaller cities, villages and hamlets where newspapers are published and read. But for the pews of the cave's strike we had to await the arrival of The Glasgow Times, edited by James M. Richardson, within 19 miles of the earth's greatest cavern. A number of Amsterdamians have visited the Mammoth Cave on their trips to the South, but of recent years few have stopped on their journeys southward from Cincinnati and Louisville to see this marvelous silent testimonial to the puissance of the Ruler of the universe.

He dug a ditch in Cypress Tuesday 8 feet wide and four feet deep, more than an hundred feet long, in about three hours with very little work. The dynamite is placed in holes along the line of the ditch and fired and the ditch is dug in a second. His demonstrations have been very satisfactory. WOMAN AWAKES TO FIND COAL MINE AT HER DOOR

Great Hole Yawns Before Her, at Bottom of Which She Sees Miners at Work.

Wilkes-Barre, July 1.-The cellar at the residence of Mrs. Andrew Weiskerger, of Hamtown, was carried into a coal mine during the night while she slept and a hole 20 feet wide and 30 feet deep appeared in the yard without awakening her.

When she got up this morning and opened her kitchen door she was shocked to see the hole and at the bottom of it miners in the No. 8 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company digging coal. A fall of roof in the mine had caused the subsidence of the surface.

The houses of Mrs. William Hoffman and Fred Hoffman were wrecked and so was the street in front of them.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleaned By a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble. D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

A Thirty Days' Fast—Then He Felt Better.

The Glasgow Times says: Mr. Jim Wilson, the well-known saddler here, concluded a thirty-days' fast yesterday at 12 o'clock, under the supervision of his physician, Dr. C. T. Grinstead. It will be remembered that Mr. Wilson was badly paralyzed between two and three years ago, and has since been bedfast, unable to move or help himself, and growing fatter all the time. As an anti-fat remedy, as well as for the general betterment of his health, a thirty-days' rigorous fast was prescribed, with gratifying results. For the entire thirty days not a morsel of food has passed the faster's lips, an occasional glass of water being the sole nourishment allowed him. Yesterday the scales showed that Mr. Wilson had lost twenty pounds, and his condition was greatly improved. He can now walk a step or two with assistance, turn over in bed, cross and recross his legs and use his arms—a very material advancement from complete helplessness. Mr. Wilson says that after the first two or three days he was not hungry in the least. At the breaking of his fast he was allowed two tablespoonfuls of orange juice, and will be gradually put on a more satisfactory diet.

Aviator Flies Over Niagara Falls

And Down Narrow Whirlpool Gorge

Niagara Falls, June 21.—In the presence of 150,000 persons Lincoln Beachy, the California aviator, today after circuiting above the falls, swooping beneath the arches of the upper steel bridge and down the gorge almost to the whirlpool.

Rising again beneath the sides of the lower river, Beachy soared to the Canadian side, where he made a successful landing.

The space through which he flew was 108 feet in height, and barely 100 from side to side.

Beachy will repeat the flight tomorrow.

The Old Time Salute By Wilbur D. Nesbit

"Most ever" place has got a gun of some kind nowadays. The government is given cannon ever whichways. An when the Fourth is welcomed they load the gun and shoot. But, say, it isn't nothing to the good old time salute.

Remember how we used to do? We didn't need no gun. We'd get a pair of anvils and we'd wait the rain/sun. A shivarin' a little bit when the cold wind'd settle. But when we shot the anvils off—well, that 'uz someplace that We'd set the biggest on the ground and heartily we'd drop some blazin' powder in the hole that's sunk into the top. And then we'd make a primin' fuse, and put the little one on top the other—There you've got the finest kind of gun!

We'd have some turn rods red hot and still a health, too. An when the sun's first ray'd come the grey clouds streakin' through. We'd tech the turn to the fuse—all of us'd shoot to safety when we shook the ground that old time salute.

The cannons ain't as good, no, sir! When me an' you was boys— I leave it to you now—there's some made the biggest noise! I wonder if there is a place where still they like to shoot. The anvils fell at early dawn in the old time salute.

CANNON CRACKERS

By W. D. NESBIT.

Happily, the fifth of July, like the day after Christmas, comes but once a year.

The outlawed toy pistol will claim as many victims as the prohibited whiskey of Kansas.

Some men have a genius for making explanation, but lack the cleverness to make them fit.

Usually when opportunity knocks at a man's door he utters a few remarks on knockers in general.

"I'm full of American spirit!" "You are?" asked his wife, with a shrug. "You're full, for a fact, but I fear it is spirit that comes from a jug."

It is unnecessary to tell a man not to hold a dynamite cracker in his hand after it is lighted. He can't hold it—long.

No doubt the man who first agitated the proposition to have a noiseless Fourth is the same who invented painless dentistry.

We are as patriotic as the next man, and we love our country dearly, but we are not so constituted that we can sit up in bed and sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" when the boy across the street cuts loose with his fireworks at 3:30 a. m. July 4th.

Spangled Banner" when the boy across the street cuts loose with his fireworks at 3:30 a. m. July 4th.

A Fourth of July luncheon is all the more enjoyable if the guests join in blowing up some mutual friend who is not present.

We are just beginning to realize what potent factors Memorial day and the Fourth of July have been in the development of baseball.

The Chinese invented the firecracker five thousand years ago. These ingenious people doubtless sought some way to drown the voice of the professional orator.

Quite often the boy who celebrates the Fourth by tying a bunch of firecrackers to a dog's tail grows into the man who delivers the spread-eagle oration on the same day.

And the man who argues to you that the streets should be covered with felt is the same who keeps all the neighbors awake by exploding cannon crackers in his back yard until midnight.

If a man could only get half as much pleasure out of shooting off ten or fifteen dollars' worth of rockets and other things as he got out of a five-cent bunch of firecrackers fifty years ago, he would be happy.

JULY 4TH, 1776.

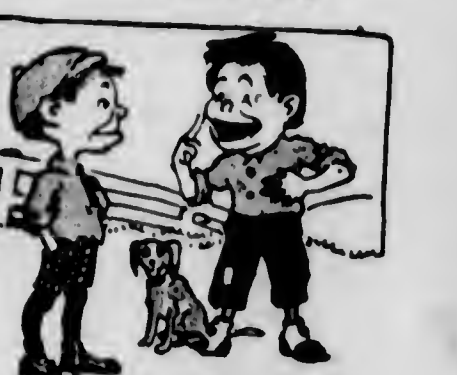

"Fare thee well," sighed the colonial lover. "I go to defend my country. Who knows what the future may have in store for us?" "Adieu," whispered the colonial damsel. "My earnest hope is that when we both figure in the historical novels the authors will neither misspell your name nor fail to properly describe my appearance."

Fourth of July Lullaby. Put little baby up in the tree top. When the commotion tells you that you need a Paw feet between her and all of the sparks. Flung from the pin wheel, bomb and torpedo.

Fasten her cradle upon the strong bough. Put her milk bottle in her tiny pocket. Then leave the cradle until you come home. For if she's sleepy she'll have the sky rocket.

Revised Proverb. "If wishes were horses," began the man who intended to show his friend the futility of idle hopes. But the friend interrupted: "If wishes were automobiles," he said, "they couldn't land us up against it any oftener than they do."

JOHNNIE'S ADVISERS.

"My pa showed me how to blow off my firecrackers this morning." "Whajler ma do?" "She showed me how to tie up my fingers."

Also So. Some people listen to our jokes. An if they had the blues; They're like the bogus fireworks which To do their part refuse— The pessimistic cracker, with The optimistic fuse.

Free Sample Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the basic trouble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with pills and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mr. O. P. Wether, of Byamore, Ill., and Mrs. Carrie Chiles, of 225 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Please send your name in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For other requests the doctor's address is Dr. W. H. Caldwell, R. 1500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

The Wise Bride

"Yes, the girls gave the bride a commiseration shower."

"What in the world is that?"

"Why, they all told her how sorry they were she was going to marry such a man as the coming bridegroom."

"That must have hurt her feelings."

"No, it didn't. She knew there wasn't a girl there who wouldn't have given her eyes to get him!"

I was subject to backaches for a long time and the affliction caused me many sleepless nights. White Star Gigantic Liner.

New York, June 31.—Twelve stout tugboats strained and pulled on the White Star Liner Olympic today, on her arrival from England, warping the giant steamship of the seas into her dock.

The berthing of the Olympic, with her 8824 feet of length, was no small task. The federal government has permitted an extension of one pier into the river in order to dock the Olympic, but the greatest care had to be taken to prevent the bulky liner from carrying away the temporary extra dock.

The Olympic made an average speed of 21.17 knots on her maiden run to New York, covering the course in 5 days 16 hours 42 minutes. She was abeam of Ambrose Channel lightship at 2:24 o'clock this morning. The Olympic cost $10,000,000 and makes all other vessels resemble pigmies. Her tonnage is 45,000 against 32,000 for the big Cunarders.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back if not satisfied. Only 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor's and J. H. Orme's.

To Hunt a Black Bear.

Much excitement prevails in and around Dwarf, Perry county, at present, owing to the discovery of the presence of a large black bear, which is making its headquarters somewhere on the dividing ridge between Combs and the Mill Branch, near Dwarf. Bill Stacy and other citizens of the neighborhood have been missing their hogs of late, and on investigation located the presence of Mr. or Mrs. Bruin, says the Hindman News-Record.

About seventy-five men with guns and dogs, have chased the animal, and have seen it at different times, but it always whips their dogs and eludes its pursuers. Parties from the bear-infested neighborhood have sent for Robin Cornett, of Hindman, the old bear hunter to come and try his hand at bear killing once again.

Bob Wheeler's Ability Recognized.

Banks, in Henderson Gleaner, says:

Down in Crittenden county you strike some of the shrewdest minds in this commonwealth. Down in that county you strike some of the cleanest, cleverest, straightest men—disinterested and public-spirited withal.

Down in Crittenden county you will also strike some of the shrewdest self-seeking schemers that ever weighted down a farmers' co-operative organization. Envious, jealous, suspicious, these would-be leaders could not co-operate with angel farmers unless first assured of a substantial rake-off. Avowed friends of this association up to the time when it became plain to them no rake-off was available to anybody, they turned against the association and are now its bitterest calumniators.

Members of the Stemming Association in Crittenden county know the men referred to—know them by their backs, know them by their favor.

Farmers of Crittenden county have a legal right to join this association, or to stay out of any association, but he is a cur and a cad, and worse I care not who he is, who deliberately spreads misrepresentations and slanders concerning the officials and administration of this association.

Down in Crittenden county dwells R. F. Wheeler, a clear-headed, educated gentleman, who knows the local conditions in that county, and who is also possessed of an intimate knowledge of the Stemming Association administration. Professor Wheeler, on behalf of the hundreds of good members of this association in that county, communicates to this week's Record-Press a clear and lucid explanatory of the costs of the administration, which I append with a request that farmer readers of the Gleaner give to the same a thoughtful perusal.

Issues Call on State Banks.

Secretary of State Bruner issued a call late Tuesday afternoon for a report from all the state banks as of June 7th, and notices were mailed out to the banks last night. The comptroller of the currency at Washington has issued a call for reports from all national banks for June 7th, too, and every state in the Union will also issue a call for reports from the state banks on that date. This united action is calling for reports from all the banks in the United States as of the same date has been taken after conference with the comptroller and this will be done one year hereafter. In this way the exact amount of money on deposit in the United States can be obtained with absolute accuracy. — Frankfort News.

Letter From Oklahoma.

Leedey, Okla., June 22, 1911.

Editor Record-Press, Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—I will try to write you a few lines to let your many readers know how towns grow in Oklahoma. Leedey is ten days old and now has 200 population, two grocery stores, two hardware stores, one clothing store, one hotel, two restaurants, two banks, two concrete block houses, three lumber yards, two barber shops, three cold drink houses one printing office and one furniture store, all doing business and a good business too. There are at least thirty buildings under way now. Leedey is located in Dewey county twenty-five north of Elk City. Elk City is on the main line of C. R. I. & P. railroad. The nearest railroad is at Hamon, a distance of eighteen miles, that is the W. F. & N. W. railroad this is the road that is building here at the edge of town now. One man has the contract to move a small town to this place, the town is ten miles away. He came in today with the first house. He has a 24 horse power traction engine he pulls the houses with. He has three pair of trucks under the house. The largest house he has to move, is a 22 room hotel.

J. S. Braswell.

Card Of Thanks

None but those who have stood by and watched the death bed scene of a husband and parent can know the pangs we feel in our distress, over the death of our dear husband and father. May God who heals all wounds, comfort these kind friends, who stood by us in that dark hour, when it visits them, and may the day be distant is our prayer.
